FLOOD AT BILTMORE.

Railway Bridges Washed Away—Cottages Flooded.

A special to the Charlotte Observer from Asheville, under date of May 21, says:

During the past two days and nights a hard rain has been almost incessantly falling in this section and much damage has been done to crops, mill, railroad and other property. Hundreds of Asheville people have visited Biltmore today to see the damage done by the floods in Vanderbilt's ideal village.

When the millionaire and his advisers planned the town a nearby creek which has never before been anything but a small stream, was never for a moment taken into account. Today this stream made a record for itself that was both surprising and alarming. One row of cottages built by Mr. Vanderbilt was flooded and the people forced to move their belongings to the upper floors and some of the beautifully paved streets were covered with rubbish. Small trestles at Biltmore on both the main line of the Southern and on the Asheville & Spartanburg Railroad were washed away and no trains will be operated on either line before late tomorrow. A car on the sidetrack loaded with stone was washed 30 feet.

The electric plant here is badly damaged and the city tonight is in darkness.

LIFE AND DEATH OF A WORLD.

ANNUAL ADDRESS AT NORMAL

DELIVERED THIS MORNING BY DR. HENRY LOUIS SMITH.

The Six Essays Read Last Night—The Class Song—Governor Aycock Makes a Short Speech and Presents the Constitution—The Annual Address Today One of the Finest Efforts Ever Delivered in the City—Girls Will Go Home Tomorrow.

Notwithstanding the steady down-pour of rain last night a large number of people from the city attended the State Normal College witnessing the exercises of the evening. As had been previously announced, the program for the evening consisted of the reading of six representative essays by six members of the graduating class.

In the rear of the large auditorium sat the students of the institution, on seats raised tier after tier, their faces wreathed in smiles, and reflecting the brightness and joyousness which pervaded the entire assemblage, despite the dampening effect of the weather outside. In the other portions of the hall could be seen old students, bowing to former acquaintances, and fond parents come to see their daughters graduate.

A few minutes before nine President McIver entered the hall, accompanied by Governor Charles B. Aycock, and the Directors of the College. Their entrance was the signal for a hearty burst of applause. Hardly had the echoes of this greeting died away, when from the opposite side of the auditorium entered the fifteen young ladies who compose the graduating class, and they received as hearty a welcome as did the gentlemen.

Several selections were played by the college orchestra, assisted by Mr. A. H. Alderman, cornet; Dr. J. H. Wheeler, trombone; and Mr. Henry Marley, trap drum; from the city. The music was an enjoyable feature of the evening.

A chorus, "The Lawn Party," was well rendered by the Glee Club, under the direction of Prof. Brown.

The exercises were formally begun by President McIver, who in a few words introduced the President of the class, Miss Daisy Allen, of Franklin county, to the audience, and who afterwards introduced in turn, each of the young ladies who read essays. Before assuming her duties Miss Allen said she wished, in the name of the class of 1901, to thank those in attendance for their presence, and as Dr. McIver would say it, "This is your own college and you are at home here." She drew a vivid picture of that period in the history of North Carolina when for years the pathetic cry for education went up from the girls, and how in response to that cry a man arose, and with others, established the Normal College. "This man," said she, "is our beloved President, Dr. Charis D. McIver." In conclusion Miss Allen said: "We offer our hearts, hopes, and lives, in the great work of saving the children of North Carolina from growing up in ignorance."

The first essay was entitled "It is Daybreak Everywhere," by Miss B. R. Rubel Sugg, of Greene county. She vividly portrayed two pictures, one of the long ago, with its tallow candles, slow moving stagecoaches and the strict observance of the Sabbath, and the other a glimpse of the present with its many advantages and improvements.

The second essay was by Miss Eunice Kirkpatrick, of Mecklenburg county, and was entitled, "Some North Carolina Folk Lore." Two pretty legends were told, and several of the superstitious fancies of the present day commented upon in an entertaining manner.

"Duty's Loyal Son," was the theme of the essay of Miss Laura Sanford, of Wayne county. An ideal of Duty's Loyal Son was presented in the person of the brave, chivalrous Christian leader of the Confederate forces, General Robert E. Lee.

The next essay was read by Miss Mabel Haynes, of Wake county, on the subject "The Education of the Deaf and Dumb in North Carolina." Miss Haynes' essay was a concise statement of the work done by the State in behalf of her children afflicted speechlessness and silence.

"The Scotch-Irish in North Carolina," was the subject of Miss Birdie McKinney's essay. She spoke not only of their love of education, but of their qualities as liberty loving and liberty defending people, shown in many of the Southern campaigns during the Revolutionary War.

The last essay was read by Miss Ida Wharton, of Forsyth county. Her subject was "The Country Doctor." The trials and tribulations, as well as the joys of this lover of his fellow beings, was well portrayed, and a pretty picture was drawn of him as he goes along the country roads, speaking a kind word to those he meets, and receiving from every one a "God Bless You."

At the close of the essays the class song was sung. This song was composed by Miss Frances Winston, of Franklin county. The singing was very impressive, the voices of the young ladies having no accompaniment, and the last strains of the song being repeated and allowed to die away.

Class Song, "Class of 1901," by Miss Frances Winston, of Franklin county. Tune: "Home to Our Mountains."

Farewell dear college days,
Farewell forever;
Life calls the youthful heart on the front.

No more we come to thee
Blest Alma Mater.
No more we turn to thee as we are wont.

Bless us, kind Mother,
Ere we depart,
Long is the journey tho' fair the way
May the dear lessons
Learned at the altar stone
Turn winter wrath to the sweetness of May.

Fain would we linger here,
Linger, and leave thee not
Though the tasks given us now are complete.

Can we refuse the call
Of our dear Mother State
And take our place again low at thy feet?

Nay, for thou bidst us go—
Others now fill thy place,
Fields ripe to harvest nor wait but thy hand.

Garner the precious grain,
Give my blind children light
Cease not till noonday shall flood all the land."

So, Alma Mater, we Go at thy bidding
Sed yet rejoiced thy command to obey
Ever remember us,
Thou who forgettest not,
Few thou in numbers we love thee for aye.

Well we remember the Athletic wars we fought,
Each hallowed spot with sweet fancies
We've strewn
Fountain and forest,
Bright-sunny pathways
E'en the old College bell's resonant tone.

Farewell, Alma Mater, farewell.

President McIver then requested the audience to join in singing "The Old North State," which was done with a will, after which he introduced Governor Aycock who delivered to the young ladies of the graduating class, each a copy of the constitution of North Carolina and of the United States. In introducing Governor Aycock, Dr. McIver said: "We welcome him not only because he is Governor of the State, but because he is a friend of education in high and low places." His encounters upon the Governor were loudly applauded, and when Mr. Aycock advanced to the front of the stage the applause was doubled. Governor Aycock said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, you are more than generous to me, but I have been somewhat used to being kindly received in North Carolina. I was in New York recently, and two hundred North Carolinians tried to sing 'The Old North State,' as you did just now, but they couldn't do it. You can't sing the songs of Zion in a strange land. I came all the way from New York in order to be here tonight and see the commencement, for the first time of this great institution." The Governor then read to the young ladies a portion of the constitution, of North Carolina, which says that "the people have the right and privilege of education, and it is the duty of the State to guard and maintain that right." "The constitution says they have that right, and you are sworn to uphold that constitution. Another clause in that constitution says that it is the duty of the Legislature as soon as possible, to provide education for idiots and inebriates, classing the two together, the one because he can't help it, and the other because he can."

"I shall deliver no lecture to you on the duty you owe. I wish I were as sure of the performance of my own, and that of the men as I am of yours. Young ladies, in behalf of North Carolina, and the State Normal and Industrial College, I present to you the constitution of North Carolina and the United States. Tomorrow the Bible will be presented to you, and with the Bible and the constitution of North Carolina and the United States, you have the necessary elements of good citizenship both in this world and the world to come."

At the conclusion of the presentation, the audience joined in singing "America" and were dismissed.

This morning at 11 o'clock the graduating address was delivered by Dr. Henry Louis Smith, president of Davidson College. He was introduced by Dr. McIver in a few well chosen words. After his address the presentation of Bibles took place. They were presented by Dr. S. B. Turrentine, pastor of West Market church.

In making the address Dr. Smith said:

"Members of the graduating class, students of the Normal College, ladies and gentlemen:—I have left behind me a crowd of conflicting duties that I might have the pleasure of bringing a message to these hundreds of eager receptive minds. I congratulate the president of your institution on the successful year now closing, these young women on the honorable history and beneficent work of their alma mater, and the State of North Carolina on her farseeing wisdom in founding and liberally supporting her Normal and Industrial College.

The suggestion of your president that my address be a scientific one, was in such accord with my own tastes and preferences, that I take pleasure today in deviating from the well trodden path of Commencement addresses. From text books and examinations, from the petty routine of our daily lives, I wish to lift your minds to the grandeur of and beauty of nature's infinite form and patience, and the wide sweep of her changeless laws. And so I have chosen a mighty theme, 'The Life and Death of World.'

My subject, the life and death of a world, brings us face to face with two infinities. Into the infinity of space around us we must travel on the wings of light, and see these worlds in process of formation, some in the fire mist of formless infancy, some in full maturity of life and vigor, others hoary with the frost of age, or still and desolate in the embrace of death. More awful still is it to stand in the presence of infinite Time; to look backward through countless cycles of revolving centuries toward that far off epoch when the morning stars sang together, and an Almighty Hand formed our planet in the abyss of space; or, lifting the curtain that hangs between us and the depths of an illimitable future, to see our world, now teeming with its myriad forms of life, still speeding onward in its mighty orbit, but a vast sepulchre in midnight darkness, given over to the silence of death, and frozen in the grasp of eternal winter.

Before examining in detail the various stages of world growth, let me call your attention to two or three preliminary facts. The first is that constant change is the universal law of life. Nowhere in the wide universe does the telescope find a single atom of matter that is not in constant motion. Our bodies, our minds, our characters, are changing every day. The shifting clouds, the whistling winds, the restless sea, the running brook, the falling leaf, the disintegrating cliff, all bear witness to the universality of the law of change.

The second remarkable fact is that most of these successive changes occur in regular cycles. Sunshine follows rain, day follows night, summer follows winter, calms follow storms, and endless recurring circuits. The ocean currents run forever from the equator to the poles, and back again to begin their course anew. The rain falls from the clouds, run in rivulets to the

of his audience to the sun, which daily floods our little planet with his overflowing light and heat, and for several minutes discussed the characteristics of a world in its first or gaseous stage.

Continuing to the youth of the world, as shown by Jupiter, Dr. Smith said, "Our world has now reached the second stage, with hot but solid crust, and a molten interior except near the center. The contest between fire and water, which is to make its whole career, has now begun. Its future oceans are all in the firmament, a vast sheet of encircling clouds, precipitating themselves in torrents of rain toward the red hot crust, but boiled away by the intense heat before reaching it."

The third stage, the maturity of a world, as shown by our own earth, was next discussed, with its cool crust and hot interior, and its abundance of air and water. The contest between the fire and water is here about evenly balanced, the water leveling all the inequalities and seeking the interior, and the fire wrinkling the surface, and driving back the percolating water.

The next stage was that of a planetary decay, the Old Age of A World, as shown by the planet Mars. Its fiery interior is growing cold, with no further wrinkling of the surface. The air and water having leveled off the surface are now working their way into the interior. The ocean is gone, and the air is too rare to support a cloud. There is no rain and the surface is mainly a desert. He spoke at length of its wonderful canals some of them over three thousand miles in length and perfectly straight, its climate, old sea beds, atmosphere, seasons and meteorology.

The last stage was that of planetary death, shown by our moon. This is the last stage. There is no atmosphere, no water, no life, no movement, no sound, a dead ball, frozen through and through under the full glare of the sun. Its surface is rugged, the water and atmosphere absorbed by the cooling crust, and our nearest neighbor in the sky is but a stellar corpse. In conclusion Dr. Smith said:

"And so the old conflict of fire and water ends in the destruction of both, and not even a world is free from old age, decay and death."

"How awful is the breadth and depth of this all-embracing, all-compelling law of change! In what clear characters have we seen it written across the seemingly changeless heavens, the so-called eternal hills, the ancient azure of the unwrinkled sea! Day is forever giving place to night, the seasons come and go, tides ebb and flow, the winds travel in their ceaseless circuits, the rivers run into the sea from which they were drawn, mountain ranges, lift their mighty flanks above the plains only to be ground to the earth again; sunshine and cloud, heat and cold, storm and calm follow one another in the material world in endless succession, while in the world of humanity hope gives away to despair, love changes to hate, health yields to encroaching disease and youth to the infirmities of age. Riches take to themselves wings, power crumbles in the leader's grasp, fame is like a wreath of summer cloud, death claims the worker ere his task is well begun, empires rise and fall, ancient dynasties crumble into ruin, races die and disappear, civilizations wax and wane as doth a government and are laid away while over all and around all and beneath all, the old, gray, battle-scarred earth itself, with its canopy of blue and far-spread carpet of green, with its rolling oceans, and granite floor, and rock-ribbed hills; Mother, nurse, and common sepulchre of us all, symbol of permanence and type of eternity—she too, like her fleeting children of an hour, is but the plaything of pitiless Time, and through illimitable ages is rolling onward toward an inexorable doom."

Romorseless Time,
Fierce spirit of the glass and scythe!
What power
Can stay him in his silent course, or melt
His iron heart to pity?"

"And so we, frail creatures of the dust, stand awed into reverent silence by the resistless empire of decay, the dread omnipotence of death. Earthly science, with telescopic vision, sweeps the fathomless depths of space, searching among its hundred million worlds for a single one exempt from the com-

The Servant Problem.

Josh Wink in Baltimore American.
Consider now the servant question. Verily, it is not the men who go forth and grab railroads and factories that cause the most worry in the heart of man.

Nay, and neither is it the trust nor the syndicate that loathes a man's job for him and cuteth his wages in two, that handeth him the greatest burth of sorrow.

Surely, the servant question is the one that bringeth the gray hairs and maketh the wrinkles.

For the servant goes abroad in the land, seeking what she may devour. She getteth a job as a cook and the flour bill goeth up as high as the monument, and the Sugar Trust declareth dividends very week because she buyeth so much.

She useth more coffee for a family of two than the boss cook of a circus taketh for all his men.

She burneth the steak and she bringeth on the roast when it is scorched to a hardwood fini sh.

She maketh pie that no man can eat and call his life his own.

And she casteth biscuits that linger in the bosom of the eater thereof.

And when one speaketh to her, that she refrain from wasting food and that she cook better.

Telling her that it is no longer the fashion to turn meat and to provide building brick biscuit.

She looketh askance at him.

Yea, she looketh at him with the corner of her eye, and she frowneth upon him.

And she telleth him to take himself unto the outside or she will disarrange his countenance with a rolling pin.

And he goeth out with speed.

And that same day he readeth a poem about lovely woman.

And wondereth in his heart if the poet ever saw a cook.

Verily, it is greatly to be wished and much to be desired.

That the time may yet come when the women and the daughters of women will cease from following after the false goods of literature, and will turn their backs upon the delights of the clubs.

And will no more read papers upon the soul and beauty of life.

But will turn their minds to composing symphonies in coffee and lyrics in biscuits and harmonies in steak.

For then man, poor man, will not feel like unto a canned junk shop when he hath finished his meal.

And life will not be one long vista of armorplate bread and disconsolate pie.

Yea, brethren, mankind needs more cooks and fewer historical romances; More artists with the range, and fewer papers on the inner consciousness;

For what kind of an inner consciousness hath the man who hath fed upon cold coffee and boardwalk meat, And hath then been flung from the kitchen.

And sworn at by the cook?

Verily, the servants question is the one that hath two miles of interrogation points after it.

And there is no answer to it.

The man who "trusts nobody" may be pursuing a safe course, but it must be lonesome.

Whenever a church member goes wrong every bad man regards it as a personal triumph.

ECZEMA

Eczema sets the skin on fire. The acid poisons in the blood are forced out through the pores of the skin, causing intense redness, burning and itching. So terrible is the itching at times, especially when the body is overheated, that the almost distracted sufferer feels that he could tear the skin to pieces, and that he must scratch or go crazy. He knows from experience that this only makes matters worse, but, made desperate by the terrible burning and itching, he is for the time being indifferent to after effects. There are several forms of Eczema, the moist, or weeping kind, that comes in little pustules which discharge a watery, sticky fluid, which dries and peels off in bran-like scales. So profuse is the discharge at times that large scabs or crusts form, which are both painful and troublesome, and not easily removed. Red, disfiguring bumps and sores are symptoms of Eczema. The dry form usually attacks the head, hands and feet; the skin, becoming hard and rough, often cracking open and bleeding, and attended with much itching. Eczema depends upon a poisoned condition of the blood, and local applications, while soothing and cooling, and may to some extent relieve the inflammation and itching, cannot be considered cures, because external remedies do not reach constitutional or blood diseases. Salves, ointments, powders, lotions and soaps do more harm than good, by smearing over and sealing up the pores of the skin, thus forcing the poison back into the blood. S. S. S. antidotes and neutralizes the acid poisons and drives out of the circulation all impurities and humors, and the pure, rich blood that is carried to the diseased skin quickly allays the inflammation, opens the clogged up pores, and the skin becomes soft, smooth and ready to perform its proper functions. To be rid of Eczema you must first purify and build up the blood, and nothing so surely and effectually does this as S. S. S., the only guaranteed purely vegetable blood purifier. Send for our book on blood and skin diseases, and write our physicians for any information or advice you may desire. Medical advice and book free.

Mr. L. Marno, Escondido, San Diego County, Cal., writes: "My body broke out with a rash or eruption which in spite of all efforts to cure continued to get worse. The itching, especially at night, was simply terrible; it would almost disappear at times, only to return worse than ever. I had tried many highly recommended preparations without benefit, and hearing of S. S. S. determined to give it a fair trial, and was inexpressibly delighted when a few bottles cured me entirely, removing every blemish and pimple from my body. I shall not fail to recommend S. S. S. whenever an opportunity occurs."

HEALTHY OLD AGE.

LARUE, BENTON CO. ARK., Aug. 4.
I am 49 years old and have been suffering with Change of Life. I had flooding spells so bad that none thought I could live. My husband got me Wine of Cardui and it saved my life. I am like another person since taking it.

MRS. E. B. TOWNSEND.

Wine of Cardui

It is the devout wish of nearly all people to live to a ripe old age. None of us want to die young. This universal desire can be realized if care be taken of the health in early and middle life. A little precaution then will add many years to our existence. Death can be kept away a long time. Happy, healthy old age will be the lot of the woman who promptly corrects the ailments which afflict her sex. In youth, Wine of Cardui will take the female child safely over the dividing line between girlhood and womanhood. As a wife she needs it to help her through the trials of pregnancy and childbirth with as little discomfort as possible. At the Change of Life it will help her over the dangerous place that appears in her pathway between 40 and 50. Then will come many years of truly blissful existence. She will grow old slowly and gracefully. To the last she will preserve that charm and beauty which are always characteristic of perfectly healthy grandmothers. It is for women alone to decide whether they will be healthy or sick. The remedy for their sickness is close at hand.

A TESTIMONIAL FROM OLD ENGLAND.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the best in the world for bronchitis," says Mrs. William Savory, of Warrington, England. "It has saved my wife's life, she having been a martyr to bronchitis for over six years being most of the time confined to her bed. She is now quite well." Sold by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

CAUGHT A DREADFUL COLD.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 1658 Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago, says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased."

PREVENTED A TRAGEDY.

Timely information given Mrs. Geo. Long, of New Stratsville, Ohio, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store.

Rev. Sam Jones says "Rev. Dr. Broughton weighs 145 pounds—140 pounds backbone and five pounds of hair." Whether or not the Rev. Jones intentionally left nothing for brains will have to be guessed at.—Columbus Enquirer-Sun.

LANGUAGE AS A CONQUEROR.

The New York Independent says: "The conflict of the world is to be between the English and the Russian languages. German is hemmed in. When half of Austria goes to Germany, it will be a German gain politically, but not linguistically. But when the other half of the Austrian empire goes to Russia, and Roumania, and the other Balkan provinces go to Russia, they will become Russified in language. France will make insensible progress in imposing her language on her African possessions; the Arabic will hold its own where France can send no settlers. The Arabic tongue is quite as likely to invade France. The rivalry of the world will be between the English and the Russian tongues.

"It is the part of high statesmanship to help the spread of the English language for language is the most powerful of all unifying forces. Those whose tongue we cannot understand are barbarians to us. Perhaps not a million people in India yet talk English. The British government ought in every way to encourage the use of its own tongue. Its study should be required in all schools above the lowest grades. We should do the same in Porto Rico and the Philippines. The building of the Nicaragua ought to lead to the its use may spread in Mexico." Costa Rica, and we should hope that its use may spread in Mexico."

The conquests of language are shown but as The Independent says, they are sure, and may cut no small figure in the final struggle between the English section of the human race and that of the Russian. The final division of mankind will be along these lines, no doubt, and, as suggested, language will be no small factor in the fight. The article quoted from goes on to say that the English grammar is the easiest of all, but our "uncivilized spelling makes the language the hardest to read, and it calls on our scholars and writers to go to work to reform it.

TINCTURE OF NEGRO BLOOD

The New York World tells this story:

The engagement of Miss Lizzie Rector, daughter of Mrs. Lizzie Rector, of No. 100 Grand street, and Dr. Thomas T. Wilkinson, dentist, having offices at Montgomery and Warren streets, Jersey City, has been broken off. The young woman discovered there was a trace of African blood in her intended's veins, and the match was consequently, to her mind, undesirable.

Dr. Wilkinson is thirty years old. When asked about the breaking of his engagement, he said:

"Yes I was engaged to Miss Lizzie Rector. Our engagement is broken." When asked if it was true that the engagement was broken because his fiancée had discovered there was African blood in his veins, he said:

"Yes, that was the cause of the breaking of the engagement. My parents were white folks, but I have African blood in my veins from my grandparents. I have studied hard and built up a good practice, I was educated in the Presbyterian College, of Dental Surgery and passed a high examination in the University of the State of New York. There have been reports I was sort of sailing under false colors, but I want to be honest and truthful in all I do.

"I thought it was better that Miss Rector should know the whole truth now rather than wait until after our marriage, for then there would be great trouble for both of us which could not be so easily righted as at this time. We loved each other, but under the existing state of facts we had to break our engagement, and that is the end of it."

This man's generosity was not as he makes it out, for it seems that the young lady made the discovery that her affianced had negro blood in his veins, and was not informed of it by him, as his words would imply. But the poor young woman, possessing the racial pride that she appears to have, has indeed escaped a fate little worse than death to a sensitive spirit.

Booker Washington's statement that it takes only one thirty-second part of negro blood to make a negro, but thirty-two thirty-seconds of white blood to make a white man is quite true.

'T WAS A NEWSPAPER AD.

How a Young Couple First Became Acquainted, and the Resultant Marriages.

Philadelphia Record.
Glancing over a newspaper not long ago, Rolling Nickerson, a prosperous and popular young oysterman of Port Norris, stopped at this advertisement: WANTED—Young Southern lady desires to correspond with a bright young man; object, matrimony; will be heir to a large sum of money in a few years. Address Addie Alford, Albany, Ga.

Nickerson read it twice and passed on. Then he returned to it, for it seemed to have a fascination for him. When he finished with the paper he cut out the advertisement and carried it in his pocket. He slept over it, and finally decided to write Miss Addie—"and so they were married."

Identified by Bow of Ribbon.

Miss Alford arrived at Port Norris on the evening train last Wednesday. As she descended the steps young Nickerson whispered to his brother: "There she is." The young woman had a ribbon tied around her arm, while Nickerson had a large white handkerchief in his hand. There was no trouble to identify each other, for the couple had exchanged their photographs, and the greeting was such that would lead the bystanders to believe they had been old friends for many years. The couple took a cab and were immediately driven to Nickerson's home, where the other members of the household gave the newcomer a grand reception.

The next couple of days were spent in viewing the town and the great oyster industry, and, being satisfied with Nickerson and the surroundings, Miss Alford gave her consent to be married. On Saturday evening they went quietly to the Methodist parsonage, where Rev. Charles F. Downs tied the nuptial knot. The affair leaked out, and is now the topic in every household in the town.

It was expected that the bridal couple would attend services in the Methodist church yesterday, and a large audience was on such tiptoe of expectancy that the music and the sermon had no charm for them. The couple bravely took front seats and didn't mind the glance or the whispers a little bit. The bride was introduced to Mr. Nickerson's friends and everybody said she was sweet.

It Was All Such a Joke.

When seen at her home today Mrs. Nickerson, who is really very charming, was very reticent, but with some persuasion she said: "My acquaintance with Mr. Nickerson was due to an advertisement in a newspaper, which I had no knowledge of. It was like this. I was a saleslady in a large store in Georgia and my friends, to have some fun, inserted the advertisement in the newspaper. In a few days I was surprised at the large number of letters addressed to me and upon opening them I saw I was the victim of a joke. I suspected my friends and they afterwards admitted that they were the guilty ones. I read the letters and we had lots of fun with them, but when I read the one from Mr. Nickerson it impressed me so much that I decided to send a reply. There was only a short correspondence between us, when he made the proposal. I accepted it and came North. Now, we are married and living happily with each other. My parents do not object to the match, although they have never seen my husband. My father is a Southern contractor and I am heir to a large sum of money, which I expect to receive in a short time. This is all I have to say about the matter."

It is difficult for a man to be honest and selfish at the same time.

Every woman thinks her understanding is at least seventeen times greater than her feet.

ALUMNI BANQUET LAST NIGHT.

THIS CLOSES THE COMMENCEMENT AT GUILFORD.

Several Speeches Enliven the Occasion—President Hobbs Makes a Few Remarks—Dr. Trueblood's Address.

The Commencement exercises at Guilford College closed with the Alumni reception which was held in the students parlor at Founder's Hall last night from 9 to 12 o'clock. About fifty members of the Alumni were present. Mr. John M. Greenfield, a rising young attorney of Kernersville, and a member of the class of 1898, was toastmaster for the occasion. In his witty and original manner he introduced in succession, the following speakers, Mr. W. W. Allen, Class of 1900, who spoke on the Southern Industrial Exposition of Philadelphia and its relation to our immediate interests; Miss Eunice M. Darden, of Greensboro, Class of 1895, on the subject "The Public School Teacher"; Mr. Harold Taylor, of the class of 1900, "subject, 'The Academic Man';" Mr. O. E. Mendenhall, of the class of 1895, "The College Man in Business."

At the close of these toasts, President Hobbs spoke briefly of the material advancement Guilford has been making of recent years, of its aims, and briefly of the results of its efforts, and ended by welcoming in a most hearty manner the old students who had gone to the College on this occasion.

Some guests were also present among them Miss Vela Lindsay, of Madison, Mr. Harris Bristowe, of Bennettsville, S. C.; Dr. Fraser, of Durham; Miss Elsie Weatherly, of Greensboro; and Miss Mary Petty, of State Normal College.

Despite the rainy morning yesterday, a large audience gathered to hear the annual address to the graduating class, by Dr. Benjamin Trueblood, of Boston. Dr. Trueblood is secretary of the American Peace Association, and within the past eight years has spent much of his time traveling abroad in the interest of the subject of peace. He is thoroughly familiar with the military conditions so far as can be learned by an outsider, of all the European powers, the cost of all their recent wars, the annual expenditure for army and navy purposes, and all such similar intellectual attainments. His address yesterday was a masterly one on the subject of Goodness, Intelligence and Power.

Besides his address, four members of the graduating class spoke as follows: John Waldo Woody discussed the subject, "The Moral Hero;" Miss Linnie Raiford spoke on "The Origin of the English House of Commons;" Miss Emma G. King's thesis concerned "Jno. Marshall and Our Judiciary;" Mr. J. Carson Hill gave a very fine oration entitled, "Our Duty in the Family of Nations;" In this he took an affirmative view in regard to our aggressive foreign policy both in the Philippines and elsewhere. The following graduates has theses prepared, but did not deliver them: William C. Hammond, Robert C. Willis, and Thomas B. King.

Among the prizes awarded was the Bryan Mawr scholarship of four hundred dollars to Miss Raipre; the Haverford Scholarship of three hundred dollars was announced as having been won by Mr. Robert C. Willis.

NEW PENSION ACT.

All Pensioners, Whether Old or New, Must Be Examined.

To all the Confederate soldiers and widows of soldiers:

The Pension Board of Guilford County composed of the Board of Commissioners of the county, the sheriff and the Clerk of the Superior Court, will meet in the grand jury room at the court house in Greensboro on Monday, June 17th and Tuesday the 18th, for the purpose of considering all applications for pensions. The Board will sit from 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. All soldiers or widows (whether they have been drawing pensions heretofore or not) who expect to make application for pensions under the new pension act must make application to the Board. They will please call on the Clerk of the Superior Court for blanks and will have some reputable physician to make the examination and fill out the physicians blank and then appear before the Board on either of the days mentioned.

HIGH POINT'S BONDS SOLD.

Bought By a Cincinnati Firm at a Good Figure.

High Point, May 12.—The Board of Aldermen held an adjourned meeting last night in the mayor's office and after electing Mr. A. J. Dodamead secretary and treasurer, bids were opened for the $50,000 water works bonds with the following result:

F. M. Stafford & Co., Chattanooga,	$50,120.00
Rudolph Klaybolt & Co., Cincinnati,	51,781.00
E. D. Steele, High Point,	53,500.00
Faison, Leach & Co., Chicago,	52,750.00
Seasongood & Mayers, Cincinnati,	53,775.00
W. J. Hayes & Son., Cleveland, Ohio,	53,107.00

As the firm of Seasongood & Mayers of Cincinnati, were the highest bidders it was decided to award the bonds at once to them, and Mr. J. B. Works, their agent who was present, was so informed.

This is conceded to be a fair price for the bonds taking into consideration that the market at present is "off."

Mr. W. R. Richardson, civil engineer, submitted a proposition to superintend putting the water works in and the committee was instructed to consult with him. Work will commence at once.

A POET IN THE CITY.

Mr. Boner, of Washington City, Visits Relatives Here.

Mr. John Henry Bonner, of Washington City, is in the city visiting his niece, Mrs. L. A. Atkisson, on Gorrell street.

As a poet Mr. Bonner has a wide and well deserved reputation. One of his best works is "Poe's Cottage at Fordham." This was published in the Century a few years ago, and when it came out it was at once recognized as a commanding note. A Boston paper immediately explained that its author was born somewhere in Yankeeedom.

Mr. Bonner's health is not good, and he will, upon the advice of his physicians, spend the summer in North Carolina.

As is well known Mr. Bonner is a native of Salem, N. C. He went to Washington several years ago and was engaged for some time in the service of the government. Later he gave himself up wholly to journalism in New York city, where he was connected with various publishing houses. He was on the editorial staff of the New York World and the Literary Digest, and was one of the editors of The Century Dictionary.

FORTUNATE GRADUATE

Miss Ida Wharton Wins the Prize for the Best Essay at the Normal Last Night.

The prize for the best essay read last night at the Normal was decided by a committee composed of Gen. J. S. Carr, of Durham; Bishop Horner, Asheville, and Mr. Robert Gray, of Raleigh. This committee decided in favor of Miss Ida Wharton, of Clemmons-ville Forsyth county. The subject of her thesis was "The Country Doctor." The prize is known as the Whitsett Prize and was established last year by Prof. W. T. Whitsett, of Whitsett Institute. It consists of twenty-five volumes of good literature.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. J. M. Little, of Charlotte, spent last night in the city.

Mr. A. H. Michael, of Durham, spent last night in the city.

Mr. Robert C. Curtis, of Hickory, spent last night in the city.

Mr. P. H. Neal, of Reidsville, spent last night in the city.

Mr. David Wright, of Raleigh, spent last night in the city and left this afternoon for Fayetteville.

Mr. Will Lyon returned last night from two months' trip through the Southern States.

Miss Mabel Nichols, of Elon College, is visiting the family of Mr. L. M. Clymer, on Hanwood avenue.

Prof. T. G. Pearson, of the faculty of Guilford College, will leave tonight for Archer, Fla., to visit his parents.

Misses Alice and Maude Dix went to Whitsett Institute this afternoon to attend commencement.

Miss Preston Leach left last night for Washington, D. C. to join her sister, Mrs. Stephen B. Wicks, of Santa Fe, New Mexico.

There will be no prayer meeting service tonight in the Westminster Presbyterian church on account of the exercises at the State Normal College.

men fate. Alas, in vain! Death reigns triumphant to the farthest star.

But, as we laid aside our futile instruments and close our eyes in despair, Faith opens to our spiritual vision a new heaven and a new earth: we see rising from an important Judean tomb, the Conqueror of Death, we recognize within his tenement of clay a spark of divine fire, and we know that if this earthly house of our tabernacle be dissolved we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

sea, are drawn by the sun again into the atmosphere to fall once more upon the hills. The food we eat carries as flesh and bone in our bodies for a while, goes back to the air or earth, is built again into plants or animals, which serve once more for human food, and so round and round from the organic to the inorganic kingdom, and back again in endless chain. Our mountain ranges are ground into earth by the rains, deposited in the ocean by rivers, and once more raised into new mountain chains to suffer the same fate. Nothing is more interesting than to trace in detail these wondrous Cycles of Nature.

The third fact to be noticed is that in the higher, grander forms of material and spiritual existence this law of the cycle fails. The successive changes are never self-restoring. The life never repeats its various stages of growth or decay. The great law or constant change governs here, as elsewhere, but it is a steady remorseless, irrevocable movement in one direction.

It is so with the immortal part of man. The soul lives forever, yet the golden hours of its childhood are never repeated through all eternity.

To this class of existence belongs the Life of the World. In all the universe of nature no law operates which can bring back its vanished youth, or cause it to traverse again any stage of its progress. The thousand changes going on upon its surface are nearly all recurrent and self-restoring, yet the great earth itself, on its long straight road to death, never retraces a single step.

Our human life naturally divides itself into five stages, changing into one another by imperceptible gradations. Infancy, youth, maturity, old age, death. A butterfly runs through all five in a day or two; man stretches them over three score years and ten, a world counts each stage in myriads of centuries.

In our special family of worlds, consisting of the sun and eight planets with their satellites circling around him, all within easy reach of our telescopes, we find each of these five stages illustrated. Some of the smaller worlds have run the whole gamut of this briefer life, and are already cold in death, the largest has not yet passed the first stage.

First then, a world in its infancy. Imagine, scattered through almost illimitable space, a formless cloud of the raw material of which the future world is to be made. Thousands of these clouds, called by astronomers, Nebulae are revealed by the telescope in the depths of space.

Silently under the law of gravitation the Nebulae compresses itself toward its center of gravity, and begins to rotate around an axis. The inconceivable heat generated by its shrinkage vaporizes all its solid constituents, and the great sphere becomes a slowly rotating globe of blazing gas. When the outer surface of this sphere is chilled by the cold of space these gasses are condensed into a brilliant shell of cloud, composed of white heat, solid or liquid metallic particles, radiating their fierce heat and blinding light outward into the depths of space. Our world is now fully formed, has started on its long career, and is passing through its solar stage or period of infancy.

IN A PREDICAMENT.

Frenchman Finds Himself Married to Woman He Never Saw.

Application at Paris to Have Declared Null and Void a Marriage Ceremony Which Occurred in New York.

Comte Robert de Pomereu, deputy of the Seine inferieure department, has been compelled to bring a curious action before the French law courts. He demands that the tribunal of the Seine shall declare null and void, so far as he is concerned, a marriage celebrated in New York April 19, 1892.

On March 4 last Comte Robert de Pomereu received a letter from a woman, whose maiden name was Barrier, and who resided in Paris, in which she reproached him with being a bad husband to her and a bad father to their child. Comte Robert was absolutely at a loss to understand why such a letter should be addressed to him. He sent a friend to see the woman, and endeavor to solve the enigma.

This man was shown a marriage certificate in due legal form, which testified that Comte Robert de Pomereu, residing in Fifth avenue, New York, aged 32 years, white, a bachelor, born in France, had contracted marriage with Miss Lizzie Barrier, residing in Fourth avenue, aged 31, white, a spinster, born in England. The marriage certificate had been registered at the French consulate in New York.

The surprise of Comte de Pomereu on learning that he was legally married to a woman he had never seen can be more easily imagined than described. It is to release himself from this embarrassing position that he has brought the suit in question. The case will be heard a fortnight hence.

On April 19, 1892, when it is presumed an adventurer married Miss Lizzie Barrier under the name of Comte Robert de Pomereu, the real comte was in Heron, near Rouen. He is the mayor of that place, and on that very day celebrated the marriages of two of the villagers.

ENABLES DEAF TO HEAR.

Philadelphia Electrician's Invention Gives Good Results—A Convincing Test.

An interesting exhibition of a simple electrical apparatus by which the deaf are made to hear was given at Philadelphia the other afternoon at the Hotel Walton by the inventor, an electrical engineer only 24 years of age. The test was made on five pupils of the Mount Airy asylum for the deaf and dumb. They were in charge of Dr. A. L. E. Crouter, the superintendent. The experiment was witnessed by Dr. Charles S. Turnbull, Dr. I. Leopold and other ear specialists.

Each pupil listened to words and vocal and instrumental music for the first time, and there was no mistaking their astonishment and pleasure at the sensation. Each was also made to repeat words which Superintendent Crouter pronounced. The apparatus is an elaboration of the telephone, which intensifies sound. The inventor has perfected a smaller machine, which may be carried in the pocket. It has but one disk and may be used unnoticed.

TO EXPLORE ANTARCTIC.

Duke of Abruzzi to Seek Further Honors as a Discoverer Around Southern Pole.

Prince Louis, duke of Abruzzi, has directed the Alpine guides who accompanied him on his arctic trip to accept no engagement for this year or next, but to consider themselves as in his employ, and he is now busy making preparations for a voyage of exploration of the immense ice-bound continent around the southern pole.

He is resolved that Italy shall not be kept in the background where geographical discovery is concerned, and that his country shall hold the record of "farthest south," as it now, thanks to him, holds the record of "farthest north."

King Victor Emmanuel, who is keenly interested in scientific investigations, is supporting the project, and the cost of the expedition will be defrayed partly by the government, partly by the scientific societies, and partly by the king and the duke himself, who will assume personal command of the enterprise.

UNHURT BY LONG DIVE.

On a Wager Man at Newark, N. J., Jumps Backwards from Bridge Sixty Feet Above the Water.

Arthur Holden, the daring diver of New Jersey, who plunged backward 60 feet into the Passaic river from the top of the New York & Greenwood Lake railroad bridge, was reported in good condition the other day. The dive was made as the result of a wager with Jack Deal, an English Steve Brodie, who, however, failed to turn up. Holden decided to make the jump rather than disappoint the crowd, and, escaping the Newark policemen by scrambling along a barbed-wire fence, reached the highest point and dropped head foremost. He turned a somersault when half way down and struck the water squarely with his feet. He swam to a boat and declared himself none the worse for the adventure.

NAME FOR KODOL.
The only instance on record when a postoffice has been named after a patent medicine, was last year, when in Wetzel county, W. Va., a new postoffice was established and named Kodol, after the famous Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, manufactured by E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago. It had given such satisfactory results that the name was unanimously selected by the people for the new office and adopted by the department at Washington, D. C.

MILITARY CAMPS.

Accommodations For the Soldier Boys at the Pan-American Exposition.

Many military organizations intend to visit the Pan-American Exposition during the summer. Arrangements have been made to provide first class accommodations for them.

The Exposition will maintain a permanent camp within the grounds for the accommodation of about 200 men at one time.

This camp will be supplied with tents, floors, cots, buckets, basins, pint cups, light, water and sinks, for the use of which no charge will be made. It will be necessary for visiting organizations to furnish their own blankets and subsistence.

There will be no accommodation for cooking in this camp, but the visitors will no doubt be able to make satisfactory arrangements with restaurants on the grounds at reasonable rates.

It is expected that organizations taking advantage of these camp privileges will, at such time as may be agreed upon beforehand, give military exhibitions without charge in the Stadium.

Bands in uniform will be admitted to the grounds free. Organizations using this camp will pay one general admission per man when they enter the grounds and must be governed by the rules and regulations laid down by the Exposition Company.

On account of the large number of organizations now applying for camp facilities at the Exposition the use of this camp will be limited to a period not exceeding six days for any one organization.

Large bodies of troops visiting the Exposition must be quartered outside the grounds, where a large camp for this purpose has been established.

Major Charles J. Wolf is in charge of the Military Bureau, and he is kept very busy these days furnishing information to organizations intending to visit the Exposition.

ACCOMMODATIONS FOR VISITORS IN BUFFALO.

Hundreds of Hotels, Boarding and Rooming Houses, Besides Many Private Homes, on the List.

So much has been said and written about the ability of the city of Buffalo to care for the crowds which will attend the Pan-American Exposition this summer that a few facts and figures will be appreciated by the general public.

In the first place, there are listed more than 200 hotels, which will give accommodation to 30,000 people; there are 650 boarding and rooming houses, affording accommodation for 18,500, while 7,000 owners of houses, most of whom never before hung out their lathstring for a consideration, have signified their intention of opening their houses for the accommodation of visitors to Buffalo this summer. These 7,000 homes will accommodate at least 100,000 visitors.

The Exposition Company has arranged to furnish tent accommodation on the Exposition grounds for 250 uniformed men. There are also two companies arranging tent systems which will afford additional accommodation outside of the grounds for 1,500 or so.

In addition to all this, there are a large number of buildings throughout the city now being remodeled and converted into hotels, the plans of which are not far enough along to afford an accurate description or to estimate accommodation at the present time. It is safe to estimate the present capacity of the city of Buffalo to accommodate 150,000 strangers. To this may be added accommodations for at least 50,000 in the surrounding towns, such as Tonawanda, La Salle, Niagara Falls, Lockport, Williamsville, Gardenville, Depew and Lancaster, all within a short trolley ride of the city.

Rates in hotels range from $1 per day upward. As ridiculous stories have been circulated in regard to exorbitant hotel rates, it is well to note the rates that have been established at the Iroquois, the most expensive hotel in the city. These are, for one in a room without bath, $3 and upward; for two in a room without bath, $5 and upward, thus making the minimum rate $2.50 per individual. The rate for a room with bath for one person is $5 or for two in a room $7.50. This is on the European plan. Of course there are rooms and suites of rooms in this hotel for much higher rates for those who wish to pay them, but the prices here given are the highest in the city for hotel accommodations as the term is ordinarily understood.

A number of local reliable agencies are engaged in locating visitors in homes in the city. These can be relied upon as being honest, straightforward and efficient. They are composed of business men of integrity, who will carefully protect strangers in the city, and visitors may feel assured of courteous treatment and safe conduct to accommodations which have received careful inspection.

THE MIDWAY.

Principal Amusement Features of the Pan-American Exposition.

The Midway of the Pan-American Exposition far surpasses all amusement features at former expositions, both in quality and novelty of attractions. The following are the principal concessions:

Esquimaux Village, Glass Factory, Trip to the Moon, Aero-Cycle, Old Plantation, Beautiful Orient, Miniature World's Fair, Around the World, Cleopatra, Colorado Gold Mine, Living Pictures, Dreamland, Moving Pictures, War Cyclorama, Philippine Village, Alt Nuremberg, Panopticon, Streets of Mexico, Darkness and Dawn, Burning Mountain, Darkest Africa, House Upside Down, Water Sports Carnival, Gypsy Camp, Golden Chariots, Johnstown Flood, Infant Incubators, Fair Japan, Bostock's Wild Animal Arena, Ideal Palace, Jerusalem on the Morning of the Crucifixion, Indian Congress, Bazaar Building, Scenic Railway, Venice in America, Dawson City and Miniature Railway.

WHAT STATES ARE DOING.

Splendid Exhibits and Buildings at the Pan-American.

The States of the Union generally show a deep interest in the Pan-American Exposition. Liberal appropriations have been made for exhibits. Several of the States have erected handsome buildings in the Court of State and Foreign Buildings.

New York's appropriation is $300,000. A magnificent permanent building has been erected, and an exhibit highly creditable to the Empire State is installed.

Illinois appropriated $75,000 for a building and exhibit.

Michigan's appropriation for a building and exhibit is $40,000.

Ohio's appropriation is $30,000. The State has erected a handsome building.

Missouri appropriated $50,000 for a building and exhibit.

Washington has appropriated $25,000 and has a building constructed of native timbers used as State Headquarters.

Wisconsin appropriated $25,000 for a building and exhibit.

The New England States joined together for the erection of a building and display of their resources and industries. Massachusetts appropriated $15,000, Rhode Island $30,000, and Connecticut, Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire have expended sums sufficient for suitable exhibits.

Georgia appropriated a sum sufficient to pay the expenses of a fine exhibit.

Idaho appropriated $15,000 for an exhibit.

Pennsylvania's appropriation for representation is $35,000.

Minnesota appropriated $20,000 for an exhibit.

New Jersey's appropriation for representation is $25,000.

North Dakota expends its appropriation of $10,000 for an exhibit.

Oregon expends $25,000 for an exhibit.

Maryland appropriated $25,000 and appointed a commission to prepare an exhibit.

Delaware made an appropriation for an exhibit.

Washington, Montana, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and other States are suitably represented.

In addition to the exhibits made under the auspices of the different State governments, there are numerous displays of the industrial and natural resources of the States by individual exhibitors.

Judgment.

Whose bad opinion do you fear?

Whose good opinion do you want?

The most important thing to you in your business is customers.

The strongest adjunct in making customers is the way you impress them. A large part of the impressing is done in the kind of printing they get from you. The only printing that you have may be your stationery, envelopes, cards and other pieces of what are called commercial printing.

Even in these things it is possible to exercise good taste, as we can soon show you if you will examine some of our samples of printing.

If you advertise, if only to the extent of a small folder or an occasional booklet, you should anticipate and discount the judgment of your customers by laying before them printing that is refreshing, distinct, original, clean and direct.

There are all kinds of printing in every town.

There is only one good kind.

One piece of good printing is worth a hundred pieces that are fair to middling.

You cannot afford to do anything but the best. Therefore, you cannot afford not to know our ways and our prices.

Will you come to us, or shall we go to you?

BLOOD

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor.

There is nothing else to live on or by.

When strength is full and spirits high, we are being refreshed, bone muscle and brain, in body and mind, with continual flow of rich blood.

This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood, is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil. It sets the whole body going again—man woman and child.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

A Sagacious Bear.

LaGrange Sentinel.

A Kinston drummer who visits LaGrange, vouches for the following story:

He was farming in Onslow county, N. C., a few years ago and in the fall noticed that the corn was disappearing from a part of the field. He resolved to watch one night for the thief, and was not surprised to see a large bear enter the field and help himself to the ears of corn, not making a meal, of them himself, but carrying them with him as he went. The man followed the animal at a safe distance and observed him on reaching the field fence throw over his corn and then climb over and gather it up again. Bruin resumed his walk and the man followed and after a little came close upon the bear as he stood leaning against a rail pen in which were several pigs to which he was throwing the ears of corn he had brought. The wise animal had confined the pigs and was prudently raising his own meat. The Kinston man's story ends at this point, but it is presumed he is able to enlighten the public in regard to what followed his discovery.

The Bad Man as a Hero.

Homer sang the ruffian Achilles into thirty centuries of renown. The deeds of many frontiersmen excel the Greek. David did his own singing, and came out with a great reputation. Yet I doubt not the Meandrius gang, would have made Goliath look like an amateur. Ivanhoe, in his iron kettle with his long lance killing the neighbors for love of God and lady, never surpassed in sacrifice Wild Bill and his comrades. But the dime novelist has been their biographer, and cheap notoriety their reward. They deserve a statelier history and a sweeter requiem. With all their faults they were brave and gallant gentlemen, who made it possible for quiet men to bring decent women and establish American homes on the plains and in the mountains. Wild Bill Hickok's adventurous career should have come to the knowledge of that fine old Scotchman, who delighted in the blare of bagpipes, the clash of arms, the tale of chivalry. Walter Scott would have made this great scout and peace officer a hero of romance and a prince of the border. E. C. Little in Everybody's Magazine.

LAND SALE.

By virtue of a Power of Sale contained in a mortgage executed on the 26th day of February, 1900, by Emma L. Barnes and husband, J. S. Barnes, to Moses Strauss and duly recorded in Book 121, on page 264 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Guilford County, I will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash, at the Court House door, on Saturday, the 22d day of June, 1901, a certain lot or parcel of land situated in Gilmer Township, Guilford County, N. C., adjoining the lands of N. A. Hanner and others, and bounded as follows:

Beginning at a stone on the south edge of McCulloch Street, N. A. Hanner's N. E. corner, thence southwardly with said Hanner line (formerly Hodgins line) one hundred and twenty-two (122) feet to a stake. Thence eastwardly with the line of McCulloch heirs one hundred and fifty-seven (157) feet to Ashboro Street. Thence northwardly with the line of Ashboro Street about one hundred and twenty-two (122) feet to the corner of Ashboro and McCulloch Street. Thence westwardly with the south line of McCulloch Street about one hundred and twenty-five (125) feet to the beginning. This being the lot conveyed by J. S. Hunter to Emma L. Barnes.
